

NEXT GENERATION JOINS SEAWAY EXPRESS TEAM

Seaway Express names Melanie Gauthier Sales & Marketing representative

Cornwall – Bob Gauthier, president of Seaway Express, announced his daughter, Melanie, has joined Cornwall's award winning transport company.

With four summers of experience, Melanie has been named Sales & Marketing representative for Seaway Express.

“We are pleased to bring Melanie on board,” says Bob Gauthier. “Her energy and enthusiasm will be a great asset to Seaway and its customers.”

Prior to this position, Melanie worked in Ottawa, as a communications coordinator for a non-for-profit organization. Melanie has a degree in Journalism and Business from Carleton University. She is also a new member of Team Cornwall.

About Seaway Express:

Seaway Express was established in 1990 to provide reliable and efficient overnight transport service between Eastern Ontario and Québec. Beginning as a one truck operation, Seaway Express has grown over the years to its present fleet of over 65 tractors and trailers and 50 employees. Equipment includes straight trucks, tractors, trailers as well as container chassis. Seaway has expanded its service with warehousing and distribution into local distribution centres such as Walmart's SCM and Shoppers Drug Mart's Matrix Distribution Centre. As the closest trucking terminal to these warehouses, Seaway is able to provide quality on time service. Seaway Express is the recipient of the 2010 Business of Year award from the Cornwall Chamber of Commerce.
